UConn STORRS

This is your space to innovate, explore, and find the path that will lead to your success.

Work alongside expert faculty. Conduct an independent study. Take advantage of an IDEA (Imagine, Develop, Engage, Apply)

Grant to fund research. We're halfway between New York City and Boston, where there's no shortage of opportunities and plenty of ways to challenge yourself.

Thomas Shao

Major: Physiology and Neurobiology

Funded by a Summer Undergraduate Research Fund (SURF) Award, Thomas joined the Behavioral Neuroscience Division as a researcher. Drawing on his findings in observational learning, he mentored middle school students through the Kids in UConn Bridging Education initiative.

UConn WATERBURY

At UConn Waterbury, you'll prepare for the careers and jobs that Connecticut needs most: at banks, hospitals, and research labs. There's a focus on community here. In fact, the garden in our courtyard produces food for local homeless shelters.

UConn STAMFORD

Students who attend school in downtown Stamford can take advantage of internships at Fortune 500 companies, and they're also just a 50-minute train ride from New York City. Everything here is within walking distance — your classes and lab spaces, plus food and entertainment — so you'll always have something to do.

stamford.uconn.edu

Maria Oliveira

Major: History

While she was president of the UConn Stamford Undergraduate Student Government Association, Maria was selected as a Key into Public Service Scholar by the Phi Beta Kappa Society — one of just 20 such students in the country.
